Excerpt: . the steeple of one of the churches. From regimental surgeon of the Eighty-ninth Dr. Squire was promoted to division field-surgeon under General Burnside. The surgeon-general of the army in speaking of him in his report says he was considered one of the most efficient surgeons of the Army of the Potomac. Dr. Squire was a member of the Elmira Academy of Medicine, the County Medical Society, the New York State Medical Society, New York State Medical Association, and American Surgical Association, a national organization of the most celebrated surgeons in the country meeting annually in Washington. He was the inventor of a useful surgical instrument for which a prize was given him by the French Imperial Academy of Medicine. In this instrument there was a fortune for the inventor, but Dr. Squire refused to patent it, saying it was for the good of...
